GOVERNMENT SEEKS TO HELP SMALL FARMER.

Senate Committee in Favor of Making Loans at 3 Per Cent. or Less.

How to place the government emergency currency in the hands of the eventual borrowers, the farmers, at a low rate of interest, so that the banks cannot borrow the money from the government at three per cent. or less, and then charge the small farmers and merchants eight per cent., was the problem facing the Senate banking committee last Saturday. The problem will have to be solved to the satisfaction of the Senate before the currency amendments are finally passed, or the opposition to them will be tremendous.

On the other hand such Senators as Shafroth, of Colorado, a member of the banking and currency committee, declare that if a low rate is fixed as the maximum which can be charged, it will result in his section of the country where the ordinary rates are high in being deprived of any benefit of the emergency currency at all.

"It will bring your rates down," Senator Overman of North Carolina retorted when Shafroth made that point.

A number of Senators are much worried lest a number of the amendments proposed result in a vast fluctuation of the currency. As a result of opposition of various kinds the committee is trying to reshape the amendments so as to meet the objections.
